Your Course Leader: James Burt

Our commitment to you

We will supportively introduce and develop your musical creativity, preparing you for future opportunities in education, employment, and the music industry.

Our education offer

Intent

This course will support you in developing your creative skills and help you work towards your individual goals. This course will support you in developing your creative skills and help you work towards your individual goals.

Implementation

Through hands-on lessons with industry-standard equipment, you'll develop skills for your chosen music industry role. Tutors and industry guests will share their expertise and offer workshops to prepare you for the music industry.

Technology pathway projects include studio recording sessions and using industry software to produce a range of musical ideas. You'll create high-quality tracks, build a promotional portfolio, and develop a career pathway.

Performance pathway projects include live performances and using industry software to produce musical ideas. You'll also create a promotional portfolio, develop a career pathway, and curate performances inspired by your favourite artists or bands.

Impact

Many of our learners have worked with professional clients, released music commercially, performed or DJ'd at events, and been involved in professional studio projects.

Expected behaviours and attitudes

Intent

We expect you to maintain high professional standards, in line with industry expectations. We'll guide and support you in developing these attitudes to prepare you for a successful career.

Implementation

Tutors will demonstrate professional behaviour, both as educators and industry professionals. They will share their experiences to show you what's expected in different industry settings. You should communicate effectively and professionally with everyone to complete tasks on time. You must also use equipment responsibly. For some projects, you'll be assigned specific job roles and will need to evidence the qualities of an industry professional.

Impact

Each year, rewards and prizes are given to our students. There are various rewards categories some of which are linked to professionalism, a recognised improvement in studentship or skills, and attendance & punctuality.

You will also get to engage in talks and sessions run by industry guests who have worked with various famous artists/ bands. This is to ensure you have access and exposure to professionals that are doing what you want to do in the future. Past course guests include musicians and producers that have worked with artists and bands such as; RAYE, Cat Burns, Lizzo, & Sam Ryder.

Your personal and professional development

Intent

We will support you becoming multi-faceted individuals that are making a positive contribution to the world around you.

Implementation

Tutors will support you with developing your social skills, academic skills, vocational skills, employability skills, and a whole host of other transferable skills that encourage you to be well-rounded citizens. These skills will be useful throughout your time with us, and beyond level 2.

The importance of being able to communicate professionally with tutors, peers and guests is incorporated into sessions, to help you prepare for various industry scenarios.

Observing health & safety procedures in addition to striving for good health and well-being is consistently stressed, and linked to various industry working environments, to assist you with preparing for their future.

Impact

The course is designed to help you assess where you are currently at, and what you have currently achieved, then encourages you to be invested in your continual development to reach your current and future goals. You will leave the course with a portfolio of work that you can share with potential employers and industry contacts.
