

13th April, 1934.

Dear Fred,

I have just received your letter, and am glad to know you can come on Sunday, when we will have time for a good talk. Lucy will call about tea-time, on her way back from Oxford, and will bring you here. If I feel better I may go down myself and fetch Lucy on Sunday and come with her, but this is uncertain, as I must still be very careful.

I heard from Lady Dunedin, and she is expecting your article. She asked me for a photograph of myself, which I have sent her.

Since we came back I have finished a portrait, which I have much enjoyed painting, and I hope you will like it. It is of the Master of one of the Surrey Hunts, in his pink coat, and it was one of the reasons I came home earlier than I at first meant to, as it is to be presented to him next weekend.

Looking forward to seeing you on Sunday,
