21st January, 1927.

Dear Mrs. Nelson,

I am leaving on February 12th and will be absent for about two months, as I have to go to Portugal and Spain to paint the Royal family there, and also do various studies for myself.

I would like very much to know what will happen about your portrait, as up till now, I have had no news from Mr. Nelson, your father-in-law, so I am sending you this letter to-day, and as soon as you receive it - may I ask you to kindly let me have a wire, saying what you have decided about the picture.

Before I leave, in any case, I will make arrangements with my butler, in the event of Mr. Nelson coming and wishing to take away the picture - to let him have it.

I will also arrange with Mr. Remy, the frame-maker to keep ready a very good box for the picture, in case Mr. Nelson wishes to have the portrait to take with him.

In any case, however, I hope to have it again for the month of June when my Exhibition takes place here.

At present I am doing a full-length portrait of Lord Reading for India and I have been photographed while working on it, at the same time, when they took the photo of it, and in the opposite corner of my studio you will see the portrait of yourself and the Queen of Greece. I am sending you this as a souvenir, as I am sure it will interest you to have it.

By now I hope you will have received the photographs after your picture - of which I sent you the first proof. Let me know how you and yours like it. Of course a photograph never gives t e full impression of the real values.

It would give me very great pleasure to hear from you and what sort of journey you had, etc.

I arrive in Lisbon, Portugal, on Feb 15th and shall be staying at the British Embassy there, so if you address a letter directly there, it will reach me safely.

The other day I had very good news from Monsieur Carlos del Solar Dorrego about his wife's portrait, which had arrived safely and is much admired. If you have time and opportunity, I do hope that you will go there and see it.

Weboth send you and Mr. Nelson our warmest best greetings and looking forward to hearing from you,

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Jack Nelson,
